FOREWORD

It is a matter of great pleasure to me that Central Bureau of Statistics is bringing out the third issue of Statistical Pocket Book of Nepal. Like its two previous issues, the present issue contains current statistical informations on several aspects of the country's development. I hope this publication would be able to serve the need of the users for such information to a great extent.

I wish to express my special thanks to the concerned officials of the Bureau for their laudable efforts in bringing out this publication. I hope that Central Bureau of Statistics in future will further endeavour to make the publication more comprehensive and timely.

PREFACE

It gives me great pleasure to present the third issue of the statistical Pocket Book of Nepal. Like its previous issues, the present issue of the Pocket Book contains updated statistical informations on various socio-economic fields like geographical area and climate, population, agriculture, industry, transport, communication, water, power, trade, health, education, national accounts, etc. A large extent of these informations has been selected and compiled by this Bureau from the statistical works and records of various ministries, departments, banks, corporations and other organizations. I wish to express my sincere thanks to those various organizations whose active support and co-operation was crucial in bringing out this publication.

My sincere thanks are also due to the concerned officials of this Bureau who put their tremendous efforts in bringing this out. I hope, like its two previous issues the present issue, of this statistical Pocket Book 1984 would be able to fulfill the need of the users for statistical informations to a great extent.

NEPAL AND ITS PEOPLE

(Situation, shape, area and natural divisions)

1. Nepal is a sovereign independent kingdom situated on the southern slopes of the mid-Himalayas, the formidable range of eternal snows. The nearest sea coast is about 1,127 km from its border. It is located between $26^{\circ}22'$ and $30^{\circ}27'$ North latitudes and $80^{\circ}4'$ and $88^{\circ}12'$ East longitudes. It has an area of 147,181 sq. km. The average length from the Mechi river in the east to the Mahakali river in the west is 885 km. The north-south width is not uniform. At its widest it is 241 km, while at its least it is 145 km, yielding a mean width of 193 km.
2. Nepal's northern boundary merges with the Tibet region of the People's Republic of China. On the east it borders with the state of Sikkim and the North Bengal division of India. On the southern side it touches the Indian states of Uttar Pradesh and Bihar.
3. The major part of the country is of high mountains and rolling hills. It accounts for about 83 percent of the total land area and the remaining 17 percent is occupied by the flat lands of the Tarai. Altitude varies from 152 m. above the sea level in the Tarai in the south to more than 8839 m. in the north Himalayas. On the basis of altitude alone, the country can be divided into three natural regions.

- (a) Himalayan Region : This lies at an altitude of 4877m. to 8839 m. above the sea level with the snow line running at 4877m. The Himalayan ranges like the Kumbhakarna, the Jugal, the Mustang, the Ganesh, the Annapurna and the Machhapuchhre fan out from the east to the west. In this region the world's famous peaks of Mount Everest (8848m.), Kanchanjungha (8598m.), Makalu (8470m.), Dhaulagiri (8172m.) and Annapurna (8078m.) are located.
- (b) Mountain Region : This region is formed by the Mahabharat range that soars upto 4877m. It is also known as the Mid-Himalayas. To the south of it lies the Churia range whose altitude varies from 610 to 1524m. The two ranges enclose between them valleys of various width and altitude from 610 to 914m. They are known as the Doons or the Inner Tarai. The mountain region accounts for about 68 percent of the total land area.
- (c) Tarai Region : The Tarai Region which has a width of about 26 to 32 km. and an altitude of maximum 305m. occupies about 17 percent of the total land area of the country. The eastern Tarai is wider and spreads continuously while the western Tarai is narrower and irregular. The forest of the Char Koshe Jhadi, famous for big games, lies east to west. It is named after the belief that its average width is 4 Kosh (13km).

Rivers and Lakes

4. Situated on the southern slopes of the Himalayas, Nepal has a large number of rivers, lakes and ponds. In summer, melting snow adds to their volume and ensure perennial flow of bigger rivers in particular. The river system of the country is made up of three main rivers and their tributaries. The greatest and most outstanding river is the Koshi river. It is actually a confluence of 7 rivers, Koshi, Sunkoshi, Arun, Tamor, Tama Koshi, Indravati and Likhu. It is, therefore, known as the Sapta Koshi or the Seven Koshis. The river drains the eastern part of Nepal. The Gandaki river is also composed of 7 rivers. Its tributaries are Trisuli, Kali, Seti, Madi, Daraundi etc. At the point where all the tributaries meet, the river takes its name as Narayani. This river drains the Central Nepal. The third river is Karnali which drains the western part of Nepal. Many among the big and the best known lakes occur in the Pokhara valley. They are Phewa, Roopa, Begnasa, Dipang and Medi. Phewa is the biggest lake of the valley and is quite famous. Rara lake situated at a height of about 3353m. is the biggest and most beautiful lake of the kingdom.

Climate

5. The weather condition varies from region to region. Summer and late spring temperature ranges from more than 40°C. in the Tarai to about 28°C. in the mid-section of the country. In winter, average maximum and minimum temperatures in the Tarai range from a mild 23°C. to a brisk 7°C. while the central valleys experience chilly 12°C. maximum and the temperatures below the freezing minimum. Much colder temperatures prevail at higher elevations. Kathmandu valley which is situated at an altitude of 1300 metres has seasonable but equable climate with average summer and winter range of the temperature of 27°C—19°C. and 20°C—2°C. respectively. The annual rainfall in Kathmandu generally exceeds 1300 mm. The mean annual precipitation ranges from more than 6000 mm along the southern slopes of the Annapurna range in the central Nepal to less than 250 mm. in the north central portion near the Tibetan plateau. Varying amounts between 1500 and 2500 mm. predominate over most of the country. On an average, about 80 percent of the precipitation is confined to the monsoon period (June—September).

Economic Resources.

6. The most important economic resources of Nepal are forests which cover about 29% of the total land area. The principal products of the forests are timber, rafters, beams and faggots. Besides, forests supply different varieties of goods for the manufacture of furniture, indigenous paper and match boxes. Some of the minor products of the forests are herbs, drugs, fruits, tanning agents, bamboo, resin and terpentine.
7. Nepal is predominantly an agricultural country. About 91 percent of the total population derives its livelihood from agriculture and allied activities. Main crops are paddy, maize, millet, barley, wheat, potato, jute, sugarcane and oil seeds. In addition, tobacco is also an important product of cash crop. Tea is limitedly produced in the country and it is one of the most important products of the Ilam district. Next to agriculture, another important occupation is cottage industries. Handloom textiles form a major item in this category.

Race and religion

8. Nepal has a composite population stemming from various racial strands. The inhabitants of higher altitudes, Sherpas, Tamangs, Kirantis, Limbus and Bhotiyas are drawn from Mongoloid stock.

The mid-mountains are populated by Tamangs, Magars, Gurungs, Sunwars, Newars, Brahmins and Chhetriyas. In the inner Tarai region, Tharu, Danuwar, Chepang, Magar and Indian Immigrants hold a dominant position. In recent times the development of means of transportation have, however, enabled the people to move from the hills to the Tarai and now one finds a mixture of different races in various parts of the country. The people mainly follow the Hindu and the Buddhist religions.

Administrative Division

9. Administratively the country is divided into the following 14 zones and 75 districts.
 - (1) Mechi Zone : This lies on the extreme east of Nepal. It is bounded by India and Sikkim on the east, the Koshi Zone on the west, The Tibetan region of the People's Republic of China on the north and India on the south. It is spread over an area of 8196 sq. kms. having 4 districts, namely Taplejung, Panchathar, Ilam and Jhapa. The Zonal headquarter is at Ilam.

- (2) Koshi Zone : It is sandwiched between the Mechi Zone on the east and the Sagarmatha Zone on the west. It is bounded on the north by the Tibetan region of the People's Republic of China and by India on the south. It has an area of 9669 sq. kms. It is made of six districts, namely Sankhuwasabha, Terhathum, Dhankuta, Bhojpur, Sunsari and Morang. The zonal headquarter at present is at Biratnagar.
- (3) Sagarmatha Zone : It has an area of 10,591 sq. kms. Its boundaries are the Tibetan region of the People's Republic of China on the north, India on the south, the Koshi Zone on the east and the Janakpur Zone on the west. It has six districts. They are Solukhumbu, Okhaldhunga, Khotang, Udayapur, Siraha and Saptari. The zonal headquarter at present is at Rajbiraj.
- (4) Janakpur Zone : It also spreads out to the Tibetan Region of the People's Republic of China on the north and India on the south. It has an area of 9,669 sq. kms. Its eastern boundary is co-terminous with the Sagarmatha Zone, while it is set off on the west by the Bagmati and the Narayani Zones. Dolakha, Ramechhap, Sindhuli, Mahottari, Sarlahi and Dhanusha are six districts. Its headquarter at present is at Jaleswar.

- (5) Bagmati Zone : It is the most developed and significant zone from every standpoint. Its area is 9,428 sq. kms. Its boundaries are demarcated by the Tibetan region of the People's Republic of China on the north, the Narayani and the Janakpur Zones on the south, Janakpur on the east and the Gandaki Zone on the west. The eight districts included in it are Rasuwa, Dhading, Nuwakot, Sindhupalchok, Kavrepalanchok, Kathmandu, Lalitpur and Bhaktapur. Its headquarter is in Kathmandu, which is also the capital of the Kingdom.
- (6) Narayani Zone : It lies on the south of the Bagmati and the Gandaki Zones. Remarks:-

* — Far-Western Region has been divided into Mid-Western and Far-Western Development Regions.

 — Kulekhani First Hydro Power Station has been commissioned.

 — At the end of Fiscal Year 1981/82 Gandak Hydro Power Station began to supply the power to the Bhairahawa Area. From this Fiscal Year the Generated Electricity is added to Western Development Region instead of Central Development Region
